 - evaluation methods for making capital expenditures
 - tax strategies
 - compliance with financing arrangements
 - insurance strategies
 - banking arrangements and lines of credit
 - pension plan funding
2. Review management's plans for significant financing transactions, including the issuance of debt and equity securities and borrowings from banks and other financial institutions, and make recommendations to the Board of Directors with respect thereto.
3. Review, advise and consult with management regarding the Company's policies with respect to interest rate and foreign exchange risk, liquidity management and counterparty risk.
4. Review and approve, in consultation with management, the Company's policy with respect to derivative usage.

5. Review, advise and consult with management regarding the Company's credit ratings, financial public relations and communications practices and investor relations activities.
6. Review the Company's annual plan for capital expenditures and make recommendations to the Board of Directors with respect thereto.
7. Review, advise and consult with management, and make recommendations to the Board of Directors, with respect to mergers and acquisitions and other business development activities with a value in excess of $50 million.

In addition, the Finance Committee shall perform such other responsibilities as may be delegated to it by the Board of Directors from time to time.

The Finance Committee may retain the services of financial advisors, independent accountants, attorneys and other advisors and consultants to assist the Committee in the performance of its responsibilities.

MEETINGS

Meetings of the Finance Committee shall be held from time to time as called by the Chairperson of the Committee. In addition, any two members of the Committee may call a meeting of the Committee to be held at such time and place and for such purpose or purposes as such members shall deem appropriate. The Chairman of the Board, Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer and General Counsel may attend meetings of the Finance Committee; however, the Committee may meet in executive session at any time if it desires. The Finance Committee may act by a majority of its members at a meeting or by unanimous written consent.
